

BUCK'S ROCK WORK CAMP

SUMMER 1947

As you look through this book during the winter months, these pictures will bring back many memories of Buck's Rock.

You came to Buck's Rock because it represented an idea that awakened some response in you. You knew that responsibility would be placed upon you, and you were willing to assume it. You knew that your summer at Buck's Rock would carry meaning and purpose in that you were expected to give as well as receive. And you have done that.

The products of your farm are harvested and sold; the vegetables you have grown are a pride and credit to you, and with your strength and patience you have brought these riches to life. You have used your imagination and creative power to make beautiful things in your art shop, things that somehow pleaded for this form of expression through you. With your cameras you have captured, for ever, impressions and moods that have now become a concrete and personal possession to you. In your work shop, you have given back durability and usefulness to objects that were made before you were born and that were used up by long wear and service. By doing this, you have restored to them their old functions and they now can once again be of use to others. In addition, you have made new things that will be used by many and bring pleasure to many. In your acting you have projected yourselves into the lives of others; serious moods as well as gay emotions found expression in your music. You have had a summer full of fun and entertainment that was of your own planning. You swam in your pond, you played many games, you danced and sang; you have enjoyed all of the pleasures that were rightfully yours.

But most important of all, you have seen how human and material values are created. The dollar that you made is not the same as the dollar that is given to you; it becomes a symbol of achievement and will. When you gave some of the money that you worked for to the children of Europe who unseen and silently pleaded for your help, you experience one of the most noble and active of all human emotions. No good deed remains isolated; it evokes an echo that reverberates from one compassionate heart to the other.

If, from these summer months, you have derived the conscious experience of being a part of something greater than yourself—a small but effective part of human society—then Buck's Rock has achieved its aim.

Friends preparing your field in the spring.

Remember how you learned to milk Molly?

"The pigger the petter!"

Busy Susan at work on Lazy Susan.

Puppets and Moppets.

From lay-men to clay-men.

"And everybody who was anybody had a guitar."

High dive without water—mumbly peg.

Six H. P.

All life savers started in a beginner's crib.

The tide turns.

Buck's Rock—New Milford: Friendly neighbors, even at baseball.

You were not going on a hayride, but to work for your neighbors.

Together we sing.

"It was sad, it was sad, when the great ship went down."

"It's a story they tell in the border country .....

Our friend, the good earth.

Supressed desires.

Eddie couldn't say "No."

"Call Me Farmer!"

Our Town.

. . . . and keep your lenses dry!

Our roving cameras

End of the line.

The sty's the limit!

Jack and Jill.

The Buck's Roxy.

Intermission.

Our roving cameras

To whom we serve.

Festival.

"Swing your darling Nellie Grey."

Thunder Rock: "Some day. Do you know what that means, some day? If we do the right thing now, that day may come in a generation. If we do the wrong thing . . . it maybe a thousand years."
